

CCEP

Advanced Principles of Soft Tissue

Need to Know Info for this Weekend's CCEP Course:

CLASS AGENDA

Saturday 8:00AM - 6:00PM

Sunday 8:00AM - 2:00PM

ATTIRE

Wear comfortable clothing, shorts and t-shirts and sneakers are perfect and for the women, sports tops are great. Of course, bring warm clothing should the room be chilly. If anyone has any medical condition that would be contraindicated for any form of treatment during class, you MUST let the instructor know as well as the host. We will have a list of contraindications presented in class, PRIOR to any hands on work. Also, if you have a sensitivity to Latex, you MUST let us know. If you do not wish to expose body parts, please feel free to wear lycra or other tight fitting clothing, we can treat through materials, however, when possible, it is best to treat directly in contact with skin but that is certainly not a requirement to obtain results.

COURSE NOTES

If you wish to take notes, you may do so but we have structured the class so that you will not really need to write, we prefer you listen. All course notes will be provided. All intellectual material is subject to copyright and is distributed solely for educational purposes for those that have attended the course.

INSTRUMENTS

You are welcome and encouraged to bring any Instrument you wish to class, Gua Sha, GT®, FAKTR®, iamtools, Gavilan, Narson, SASTM, etc. We encourage you to try all instruments and see which ones work best for you.

REHAB TOOLS

We will bring a few items for you to use in class. If you have a particular rehab product you would like to bring to class, please feel free to do so

HANDS-ON INSTRUCTION

We will present a presentation of the didactic material, introduce hand-holds and strokes involved in IASTM, Taping, Flossing, and then we will pair up and go through the majority of the body with treatment. When we get to the other areas of the body, we will discuss various ways to treat that body part, then let you be creative and add your own treatment region. The instructors cannot provide actual treatment in class per NCMIC, however, we can demonstrate. Remember, the instruments MUST be cleaned between each use.

CCEP CERTIFICATION

CCEP Policies Certified Chiropractic Extremities Practitioner

□ CERTIFICATION: To become certified as a Chiropractic Extremity Practitioner (CCEP), you must:

1. Take all seven CCEP seminars. They are 15 hours in length each, offered over seven weekends, usually one month apart. All seven seminars and the final exam must be completed within a 25-month timeframe. One of the seminars must be taken after graduation, having attained a D.C. degree. The student is responsible to ensure that the institution provides verification of course completion to the CEA office.
2. Pass all exams at each seminar with a cumulative score of 75% or greater.
3. Pass the practical exam - A $200 sitting fee is required, paid two weeks in advance. Payment can be made online (click here) or by calling the CEA office with a credit card payment.)

If you have any questions or need additional information, don't hesitate to reach out. You can reach me using the information below all weekend. We look forward to having you all in class this weekend!

Warm Regards,

Jared Jensen
